The very mildest of rebels, Kalk and Marnie nonetheless shocked the rest of us at Recovery House by whimsically admitting that they couldn’t remember what they were recovering FROM.

THAT was labeled by the social worker, Dr Etling, as Haldac Syndrome.

The administration at the state capitol got wind and sent a fixer.

The best! He immediately discharged both as cured from Haldacs.

Each doing very well presently, which leads wags to remark if you really want to feel better, just forget what you’re supposed to have.
